

Mark Slagowski, Bountiful Water Superintendent, stores water at his house, come find out why.

Water Storage When, Why & How

Sponsored by Bountiful City Emergency Preparedness Council

Thursday, March 26, 2015, 7-8pm
South Davis Junior High School Cafeteria

The following will be presented:

- Becky Goodrich, “The Water Lady”, will give her very popular presentation on emergency water storage and purification.
- Rob Hunter, Bountiful CERT Coordinator, will give a short presentation on Bountiful City's water system and what to expect from it in various disasters.
- Mark Slagowski, Bountiful Water Superintendent, will be on hand to answer questions.

If an earthquake, hurricane, winter storm, or other disaster strikes your community, you might not have access to food, water, and electricity for days or even weeks. By taking some time now to store emergency food and water supplies, you can provide for your entire family.

In developed countries, having clean water at your disposal at any time is often just expected to always be available. During natural disasters, these services can be disrupted or compromised, causing the water supply to become contaminated or undeliverable. The importance of proper water storage for emergencies can sometimes be the difference between life and death.

This event is free and open to all interested in learning more about our water system, its limitations after a disaster and how each citizen can be prepared.
